For our customers the age old business challenge of expanding, relocating or starting an office is reduced to answering a few short questions on basic business requirements. Sixty days later our customers plug in their laptops and start working, without the worry of ever having to change a light bulb!

Our in house specialized teams provide the end-to-end product delivery which includes conceptualization, design, architecture, manufacturing of furniture, office fit-outs, incubation, workplace management and hospitality.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Welcome Spring...

Spring season is known as the most pleasant season in India. Everything in the nature become active and feels new life on the earth. Spring season brings lots of happiness and relief in the life after three months long winter season. Spring falls after the winter and before the summer season, in the months of March, April and May. Cuckoo bird starts singing songs and enjoys eating mangos. Everywhere in the nature becomes full of aroma of romance such as flowers start blooming, trees start getting new leaves, sky becomes cloudless, rivers murmur mildly, etc. We can say that nature joyfully announces loudly that spring has come; now it's time to wake up.

The beauty of this season and all around happiness makes mind very creative and gives energy to the body to start new works with full confidence. The sound of birds in the early morning and moon light in the night, both become very pleasant, cool and calm. Sky looks very clear and wind becomes very cool and refreshing. The real beauty of spring nourishes our health and we forget about all the sorrows of life. It fills heart with lots of joy and happiness with pleasant sights everywhere.

Industrial interior design, and today's post celebrates this growing trend. Industrial design showcases neutral tones, wood and metal surfaces. The entire office is having a industrial look and a pop of color in the recreational zone and the pantry which makes it a fun area .

SEASON OF CREATIVITY – SPRING

Ahhh, the change of seasons. Just like clockwork. Inevitable, impending, exciting, and sometimes stifling. For creatives, the changing of the season can have a big impact on how we gather inspiration, how efficiently we work, and sometimes how we pull ourselves out of a creative rut. Creative people are often more sensitive to the rhythms and cycles of nature, and it's important to work with your own perceptions, moods, and intuition, rather than trying to force your muse to co-operate rigidly.

Spring in the natural world is the time for new growth, for awakening. For the ground to warm up, green shoots to appear. Colour returns with new leaves, blossom and early spring flowers. The sap rises in the trees bringing energy for growth. The world seems to awaken from sleep, shake off winter and start to gently go about the business of life again.

Springtime in the creative world is an exciting time indeed. You see potential everywhere. That idea you nurtured back in the depths of the cold and dark winter months has sprung into several possible projects. Now is the time to hold your nerve. Don't rush in too soon. Use spring as a time to play. Enjoy your creativity again, re-acquaint yourself with your craft.

The seasonal changes are a very prominent influence for many people – the visual changes are stimulating, and the temperature changes elicit responses from our minds and bodies. People vary in the ways they react to the different seasons and understanding your own response can help you to work more efficiently with the type energy you have at certain times of the year.

Spring is a very energetic time, full of freshness and new beginnings. This is a perfect time to start a new project, or breathe new life into one that may have become stale. Spring is very visual, and artists may find themselves using more vibrant colours and being motivated by the sight of bright flowers and new shoots to dabble in some nature-inspired pieces, even if this is not their normal field.

Whether or not you consider yourself a good artist, why not celebrate spring by splashing the colours you see around you onto a piece of paper or canvas. Don't worry about form and perspective – just capturing the colours is an excellent way to wake up your senses after a long, dark winter.
